JEANIE BUSS

GOVERNOR

As Governor, Jeanie Buss is responsible for running all aspects of the Los Angeles Lakers organization. Buss, who oversees the business and basketball operations of the team, works closely with President of Business Operations Tim Harris and Vice President of Basketball Operations and General Manager Rob Pelinka. In 2020, Buss became the first female Governor to win an NBA Championship, as the Lakers tied a league record with their 17th title.

Representing the team on the NBA's Board of Governors, Buss is currently a member of the NBA Advisory and Finance Committee and serves on the NBA Labor Committee, which in 2016 successfully reached a deal with the NBA Players Association for a new collective bargaining agreement.

Buss serves as an Honorary Trustee of the University of Southern California, her alma mater, and on the Board of LA2028, the group overseeing the return of the Olympics to Los Angeles in 2028. Named by the Sports Business Journal in October of 2011 as one of the Game Changers: Women in Sports Business, she is a co-host of Lakers All-Access, a yearly event presented by the LA Sports and Entertainment Commission (LASEC), a nonprofit organization which draws events and attractions to Los Angeles and also sits on the board of the LASEC.

Prior to joining the Lakers, Buss spent four years as President of the Great Western Forum before joining the Lakers. She began her career at the age of 19 as General Manager of World Team Tennis' Los Angeles Strings and, in 1993, brought professional roller hockey to Los Angeles as the owner of the Los Angeles Blades. Buss is also currently involved with leading the revival of WOW - Women of Wrestling, featuring female superheroes in the ring.

Buss is a strong advocate for mental health and wellness and was recently recognized for her work by receiving the UCLA Semel Healthy Campus Initiative Center Eudaimonia Lifetime Achievement Award. Buss sits on the board of the Shaquille O'Neal Foundation and supports Canine Companions for Independence, Apex Protection Project and the Best Buddies organization among her many other charitable endeavors, while also working internally with the Lakers Youth Foundation to raise money for Southern California Youth charities. In 2015, she funded the establishment the Dr. Jerry H. Buss Surgical Oncology Fellowship at Cedars-Sinai as a tribute to her late father.

ROB PELINKA

VICE PRESIDENT OF BASKETBALL OPERATIONS & GENERAL MANAGER

After four full seasons with the Lakers, Vice President of Basketball Operations & General Manager Rob Pelinka has transformed the team DNA, constructing a roster and staff that earned the franchise their 17th NBA championship in 2020.

Pelinka helped make one of the most significant free agent signings in team history in 2018 when the Lakers added four-time NBA MVP LeBron James, following that with a franchise-altering trade that brought eight-time NBA All-Star Anthony Davis to Los Angeles. With other key additions and the hiring of Head Coach Frank Vogel, Pelinka had assembled a championship contender. L.A. went on to clinch the top seed in the Western Conference, the franchise's 24th Pacific Division title and the team's first championship since 2010 by defeating Portland, Houston, Denver and Miami in the 2020 NBA Playoffs.

Following the 2020-21 season, Pelinka got right back to work to improve the roster as the organization seeks to capture their next championship. He started the offseason by navigating a five-team trade and acquiring nine-time NBA All-Star and 2017 NBA MVP Russell Westbrook. Adding to the team's depth, Pelinka signed 10-time All Star Carmelo Anthony, three-time Defensive Player of the Year Dwight Howard, three-time All-NBA honoree DeAndre Jordan and two-time champion Rajon Rondo. He also made additional roster improvements with the acquisitions of Trevor Ariza, Kent Bazemore, Wayne Ellington, Malik Monk and Kendrick Nunn. Talen Horton-Tucker was also re-signed as the new Lakers lineup looks to win the 18th championship in team history.

Off the court, Pelinka has reignited the Lakers commitment to player development by launching the Lakers Genius Talks, a series of life-skills discussions for Lakers players led by luminaries such as Denzel Washington, Dave Chappelle, Kendrick Lamar, Allyson Felix, Dwayne Johnson and Elon Musk.

In his role, Pelinka coordinates all day-to-day functions of the Basketball Operations Department, helping to manage personnel decisions, contract negotiations, salary cap strategies and scouting. He oversees and collaborates with his staff on all offseason activities, including the draft process, summer league, free agency and training camp. In addition to these tasks, Pelinka also assists with various media relations and other management functions.

Pelinka joined the Lakers after spending the greater part of two decades representing many of the NBA's top players as an agent. Named by Forbes as one the Top 10 Sports Agents in the World, Pelinka's experience gives him a unique, player-centric perspective of the NBA landscape that has helped shape the core values for the franchise.

The Lake Forest, Illinois, native earned his business degree from the Ross School of Business at the University of Michigan with high honors in 1993, before receiving his law degree, cum laude, from the University of Michigan Law School in 1996. While on campus at Michigan, Pelinka was a member of the 1989 NCAA National Championship basketball team, taking part in three NCAA Final Fours (1989, 1992, 1993) for the Maize & Blue. In 1993, Pelinka was named the NCAA Walter Byers Male Student-Athlete of the Year. Upon graduation, Pelinka practiced corporate law in Chicago and then embarked on a successful career as a sports agent, representing some of the all-time greats and many future NBA Hall-of-Famers, including the Lakers own Kobe Bryant.

Pelinka, 51, makes his home in Newport Beach with his wife, Dr. Kristin Pelinka, his son, Durham (13), and his daughter, Emery (11). Pelinka's off court interests include trail running, reading and spending as much time with his kids as his work schedule permits. Pelinka and his family take great joy serving in leadership capacities at The Exceptional Families Ministry of Mariners Church in Irvine, CA, and at The Painted Turtle Camp in Lake Hughes, CA.

FRANK VOGEL

HEAD COACH

Frank Vogel made an immediate impact on the franchise after joining the team in May 2019, leading Los Angeles to its first NBA title since 2010 as the team captured the 2020 NBA Championship in his first season.

With Vogel at the helm, the Lakers advanced to the NBA Finals after winning each of their first three playoff series in five games. The Miami HEAT forced a sixth game in the Finals, where the Lakers became the third team in the last 50 seasons to clinch an NBA title in a wire-to-wire win, while leading by as many as 36 points in the contest.

Vogel - the 27th head coach in Lakers franchise history and the 23rd in the Los Angeles era, amassed a 94-49 regular season record in his first two seasons with the team. He has tallied a record of 18-9 in the postseason, while leading the franchise to its 17th NBA Championship in 2020. During the 2020-21 regular season, Vogel led the Lakers to the league's No. 1 ranked defense, which is the third time in Vogel's career that he has led his team to the No. 1 ranking.

He guided the Lakers to the league's best regular season start in 2019-20 and was recognized with Western Conference Coach of the Month honors for games played in October/November. The 17-2 record that Vogel's team accumulated over that span tied the franchise's best 19-game start in team history, and 14 wins in November marked the most by the Lakers in a calendar month since March 2000. The quick start was merely a sign of what was to come, as Vogel and his coaching staff later led Team LeBron to a victory at the 2020 NBA All-Star Game in Chicago, having earned his second career distinction to an all-star bench by compiling the Western Conference's best overall record through January.

In a shortened 71-game regular season, Vogel's Lakers amassed a 52-19 record, clinching the No. 1 seed in the Western Conference and earning the franchise's 24th Pacific Division title. The team shot a league-leading 48.0 percent from the field, blocked a league-high 6.6 shots per game and ranked third in defensive rating (106.1). Additionally, the Lakers tallied 13 consecutive road victories, tied for the third-best road streak of all time. L.A. went on to set an NBA record by defeating 18 consecutive Western Conference opponents on the road, thoroughly outmatching the previous record of 13 that has been held by the Lakers since the 1972-73 season.

Prior to joining the Lakers, Vogel accumulated a 250-181 record as the head coach in Indiana and was a four-time NBA Eastern Conference Coach of the Month from 2010-16, leading them to five NBA Playoff appearances, two Central Division championships and back-to-back trips to the Eastern Conference Finals in 2013 and 2014. His 250 regular season wins remain as the most for a Pacers head coach in the team's NBA history. Vogel then led the Orlando Magic for two seasons from 2016-18 and guided the team to a 54-110 record while overseeing a young and developing roster.

Vogel is a graduate of the University of Kentucky with a degree in biology. He initially attended Juniata College in Huntington, PA, where he was a three-year starter for the school's Division-III basketball team. An admirer of then-Kentucky head coach Rick Pitino, Vogel transferred to UK and became a student manager, playing on the junior varsity team in 1996.

After graduating from Kentucky, Vogel soon moved into a video coordinator role with the Wildcats. He got his start in the NBA soon thereafter as the head video coordinator with the Boston Celtics, again working under the future Hall-of-Famer Pitino from 1997-2001, before earning his first assistant coach role with the Celtics during the 2001-02 season.

Vogel has been an assistant with Boston (2001-04), Philadelphia (2004-05) and Indiana (2007-11), while also previously holding advance scouting roles with the Lakers (2005-06) and Wizards (2006-07). He remained as an assistant coach until the 2010-11 season, when he took the reigns as interim head coach for the Pacers and led the team to the playoffs later that season.

A native of Wildwood Crest, NJ, Vogel and his wife Jenifer have two daughters, Alexa and Arianna.

MAKE A PLAY AGAINST YOUR COVID-19 STRESS

Watching your favorite team play is a great way to unwind. But with COVID-19 and its impacts in the background, we're all feeling more than a little stressed and anxious.

Get back in the game with CalHOPE's free emotional wellness resources. Access tips and tools to help you stay strong—mentally and physically—so you can support your team all season long.

"Mental health and physical fitness are intrinsically bound together. When we are healthy in mind and body, we are able to flourish in all aspects of our lives."

A message from (Pro Football Hall of Fame inductee) Ronnie Lott and California First Partner Jennifer Siebel Newsom, Co-Chairs of the Governor's Advisory Council on Physical Fitness and Mental Well-Being.

OneLegacy is proud to support basketball and help share the lifesaving power of organ, eye and tissue donation.

As an avid basketball player, Albert Jones III played basketball in work leagues for several years, but had to stop playing when he started suffering from a life-threatening liver disease. Five years ago, he received a lifesaving liver transplant, and he can now play basketball again with his seven-year-old son.

You have the POWER to donate life!

Register today at donateLIFEcalifornia.org. Your gift of life can help people like Albert get a second chance at life.

OUT HERE,
TRAVELING IS ENCOURAGED
This time last year, many of our travel plans were shoved to the sidelines. But this season, bold new adventures are no longer out of bounds. In fact, there's no better time to get off the bench and back on the road — one that leads to world-class destinations, surprising scenery, and untamed tales around every bend. And there's no better place to find it all than right here in Nevada. Sound like a game plan? We're happy to assist.

FASHION MAVEN RUSSELL WESTBROOK LOOKS GREAT IN ANYTHING, PARTICULARLY LAKERS PURPLE-AND-GOLD

It's Lakers Media Day in El Segundo, and Russell Westbrook is looking resplendent in purple-and-gold as he models basketball's most iconic uniform for the first time. Two weeks earlier, Westbrook was on the red carpet at the Met Gala in New York, pulling off a Navy Ralph Lauren tux with white stars dyed into his hair.

That's quintessential Westbrook, shifting easily between all-time NBA great and boundary-pushing fashionista, often combining both at the same time. A modern-day renaissance man with the audacity to imagine the unimaginable, and the verve to pull it off.

"You know my motto," Westbrook says. "Why not? It's my mentality. It's what I live by."

Westbrook approaches the obligations of Media Day as if they were the NBA Finals, keeping his trademark non-stop motor running in overdrive as he goes from station to station, doing interviews, posing for photographers, and generally spreading pure joy. Where that bottomless well of energy comes from, not even Westbrook is quite sure.

"I just got this energy of, like, not being able to stop," Westbrook, 33, says. "I don't know where it comes from."

Westbrook does, however, offer up a theory on how it is that he was blessed with a battery that never loses its charge.

"I think it's how I was raised," he says. "The things I have been through, and things I go through in this league that allows me to keep going. Understanding I have a bigger goal in mind."

The Hawthorne product's accomplishments can easily be reduced to stat lines, the gaudy four seasons of triple-doubles, but that would be missing the point. Westbrook sees basketball as a mission, a chance to use his inexhaustible passion to spread hope and optimism.

"You know, it's not just about me," Westbrook says of daring to reach for the unreachable. "It's not just about the team I am on. It's about who I impact and who I inspire on my journey. With that, I can make sure that I keep doing the right thing, keep my energy, keep my mind clear so I am positive throughout the journey."

Westbrook could not have accomplished so much if his optimism did not match his energy. "I think I can do anything," Westbrook says, sounding confident, but not arrogant.

He took home NBA MVP honors in 2017 when he averaged a triple-double (31.6 points/10.7 rebounds/10.4 assists) for Oklahoma City. There is an MVP every year, of course, but only one other player – the great Oscar Robertson – averaged a triple-double for an entire season. Westbrook went on to average triple-doubles three more times, which is a little like climbing Mt. Everest, then turning around and climbing it again. And again. And again.

"I thank the man above for blessing me with the talent to be able to go out and do things that people never thought could be done even once," Westbrook says. "To be able to do it multiple times is a blessing on many levels."

When he logged his 182nd career triple-double last season, Westbrook overtook Robertson as the NBA's all-time leader in the category, shattering one of those records-that-would-never be broken.

"Oscar paved the way for guys like me to play," Westbrook says. "The times when he was playing were a lot more difficult than the times I am playing in now. He sacrificed a number of things for the game of basketball on many levels that I can't even imagine. I'm truly thankful for that. What Oscar did allows me to come in and play today. Oscar has supported me since day one."

Westbrook has a way of garnering the support of basketball royalty. Kobe Bryant once said, "Westbrook plays mean. He plays mean like I did." Westbrook says there is no greater honor than earning the respect of the Black Mamba.

"Kobe was my guy," Westbrook says. "Obviously, growing up in LA, I was a big Lakers fan. My dad, my mom, we were all big fans of the Lakers. Then I got into the league and being able, not only create a relationship with Kobe, but also a brotherhood. To be able talk to Kobe on different levels, that was special."

Two of a kind, Bryant and Westbrook became fast friends. Westbrook looks around his new home gym and sees reminders – and inspiration – of Kobe everywhere. The numbers 8 and 24 in the rafters, the Lawrence O'Brien Trophies Bryant helped put in the window of Governor Jeanie Buss' office.

"Kobe was a good friend of mine," Westbrook says. "I will always cherish and play for him, especially now more than ever that I am here in LA. It's been a dream come true for myself and my family. He is with me along the way, every single day."

Westbrook operates at a pace few can keep up with, but he never goes it alone, never leaves anyone behind. Coming to the Lakers means going out and playing for Kobe, but more importantly, it means going home to his family every night.

"The most important part of coming home is my kids," says Westbrook. He and his wife, Nina, have three young children. "Being able to see them go to school. To come home to them consistently."

As always, Westbrook's impact will reach beyond his home, beyond his homecourt, even beyond his entire hometown of Los Angeles.

"Being back home," Westbrook says, "means finding ways to impact and inspire people. Being able to impact our youth, our underserved and inner-city communities across the world. Especially our African American communities. That is where we are most impacted along this journey of different things in society today, so I am going to continue to that with the journey, and with this platform that I have."

"Being back home means finding ways to impact and inspire people."

— Russell Westbrook

Westbrook's use of his platform is as unconventional and varied as the man himself. He is the person most responsible for bringing high fashion to basketball, turning NBA tunnels into runways almost singled-handedly by pairing red, lenseless glasses with a fishing lure Lacoste shirt at a post-game presser back in 2012. Westbrook chuckles at the memory.

"I didn't know that it would be so big," he says of the style explosion he ignited. 'But I can feel that I was the start of that."

Westbrook isn't really a numbers guy. He is more about passion and people. But numbers will always be part of his story. The triple-doubles, of course, but even the number on Westbrook's jersey has become fashionable.

Before Westbrook's ascent, the number 0 was an anomaly. Gilbert Arenas wore it with distinction, but otherwise it was typically an afterthought. Today, 0 is a glamor number, with the likes of Damian Lillard, Jayson Tatum, and D'Angelo Russell among the All-Star caliber donning the digit.

"There were some zeroes before me," Westbrook says, "but I feel like me wearing zero has a significance of a lot of different things, a lot of different players in high school and college since I have been in the NBA feel more comfortable wearing zero and representing."

Westbrook can make most anything fashionable, both on the runway and on the court. The secret to pulling off such bold choices, he says, is really no secret at all.

"I think a lot of it is because of who I am naturally," Westbrook says of his innate knack for making bold fashion choices work. "It's nothing that I forced. I just let it happen naturally, something I just kind of went with. I said, well, let's go with it. Being myself, being authentic. Once people connect with that, you never have to worry about it."

You never have to worry about Russell Westbrook being himself, which bodes particularly well for the Lakers this season. Take if from LeBron James, who was asked what the Lakers need from Westbrook.

"We need Russ to be Russ," James says, providing Laker fans a virtual guarantee that the deal to bring the UCLA product home in exchange for Kyle Kuzma, Kentavious Caldwell-Pope, and Montrezl Harrell will work out just fine.

Like Kobe before him, Westbrook is also a movie producer. His "Tulsa Burning" documentary shined a light on the 1921 Race Massacre in the Greenwood District of Tulsa.

"For me, as a basketball player, you have to use your platform. Use your ability to No. 1, tell history, and to uplift and inspire to people across the world. That project alone was something we could do, not only to inspire people, not just in Oklahoma City or Tulsa, where I kind of grew up, but across the world to where people can understand exactly the history and how it relates to today and how we can change it in the future."

Westbrook has also made his unique fashion stylings accessible to the public with his "Honor the Gift" clothing line.

Ever the fashion maven, Westbrook can be seen at Fashion Shows from Paris to Milan, showing off his style and offering unique insights. Might he have a future as a style pundit, making fashion statements on everything from Haute Couture to Pret-a-Porter?

"Soon enough," Westbrook says.

For now, Russell Westbrook's boldest statements will be made on the basketball court.

THE JOURNEYMAN ARRIVES HOME

TREVOR ARIZA IS A LOS ANGELES LAKER, AGAIN.

BY TAYLOR GEAS

Trevor Ariza is a real one. Among the organized chaos and excitement of a Lakers Media Day, Trevor took it all in. This 2021-22 Media Day was the 18th of his career, and his second with the Lakers which may be why the small forward transitioned so smoothly from station to station, posing for photos and thoughtfully responding to questions regarding his return to the Lake Show, his role this year, and his expectations for the team.

He fulfilled all Media Day tasks flawlessly because he's been here before — or maybe he was so prepared because that's just who Trevor is; equipped for anything.

The Los Angeles native has 17 (and counting) years of professional basketball prowess. Was it being from Los Angeles that influenced his decision to play basketball or was he simply destined? Trevor replied, "I think my mom destined me to be a basketball player. She put the ball in my crib when I was really young," he said with a grin.

So, it started with a subtle push from his mother, and then perhaps destiny took over? Destiny in this context being defined as the combination of hard work and circumstance. This is exactly what happened when Ariza earned a full-time spot on the Westchester varsity basketball team, coached by Ed Azzam.

"Coach Azzam," Trevor explained, "he taught me sacrifice, teamwork, hard work, work ethic." The former record-breaking coach of the Westchester Comets was really impactful on Trevor's game and primed him for the pros.

"We had a really good high school team, a lot of really good players in the city went to our school so learning how to sacrifice for each other, playing together, competing, being relentless was something that Coach Azzam taught us," Ariza said.

These principles provided him with the confidence to depart from his college team at UCLA and pursue a career as a professional basketball player in the NBA.

At 18 years old, he joined the league and from the beginning he navigated uncertainty and unknowns in a really dignified manner.

Would he have done anything differently throughout the course of his career? Ariza answered, "I don't think so, I think my journey has made me who I am. I got a lot of knowledge from a lot of different people, I learned a lot of things, made a lot of friends, people that I would not have met if I didn't change."

And in terms of advice to his younger self, "Continue to do the things you're doing, be patient, and stay confident," he said retrospectively.

The advice to stay the course would bode well for him at 18. Ariza's first stop in the NBA was across the country in New York City as a rookie for the Knicks. An adjustment to playing in the NBA in conjunction with the culture shock of a new city did not deter the young player. No, in fact his composure then was telling of his character now.

After a stint with the Knicks and then the Orlando Magic, the LA local returned to his roots as a member of the 2007-08 Los Angeles Lakers team, coached by Phil Jackson.

"I've been a bunch of different places so I've always found a way to contribute to teams."

— Trevor Ariza

Phil had a New Age style of coaching rooted in Eastern Philosophy and Native American ideals. At the time Trevor joined the team, Phil was a nine-time championship coach. And this was at the point in Ariza's career when he really started to establish himself as a true 3-and-D player.

In Phil's book, 11 Rings: The Soul of Success, the Lakers former head coach referred to the 22-year-old as "a talented young player" and "a quick versatile small forward who could attack the basket and hit outside shots on the run."

Trevor credits Phil with his ability to "control the mind a bit." "He taught you how to think it," Trevor explained, "Phil Jackson was more so teaching me how to think the game more and think outside of the box."

Phil's coaching and Trevor's cooperation paired well. The two were members of the squad that notched the Lakers' 15th NBA title in 2009.

Ariza was a dynamic facet of the team's 2009 playoff run. In 11 Rings, Phil wrote, "Trevor was a quick, daring defender who often ignited our fast-breaking offense by making steals or forcing turnovers. He was also a clutch outside shooter from the corners and other points on the floor."

In Game 1 of Round 1, Trevor hit (at the time) a playoff-career-high 21 points against the Utah Jazz.

In Game 1 of the Western Conference Finals against the Denver Nuggets, it was his steal off an inbound pass to Chauncey Billups that closed the game out for the Lakers.

And again, in Game 3, after Kobe Bryant hit a three-pointer to put the team up by one, Trevor snatched Kenyon Martin's inbound pass to clinch the win.

Then in a crucial Game 4 of the NBA Finals against the Magic, Trevor produced 13 points in the third quarter which propelled the Lakers to an overtime victory, and later his first-ever NBA Championship after the Lakers closed the series in five games.

Phil also expressed in his book that, "The biggest setback for the 2009-10 season took place before the season began when Trevor Ariza who had played a big role in the 2009 championship run left the team to become a free agent."

Well, twelve years later at the age of 36, the NBA Champion returns to the Purple and Gold now as an experienced vet.

Upon his return, regarding what feels the same and what feels different, he explained that he's more mature, but that "obviously, the excitement about playing for the Lakers is always there." He went on, "playing for championships has always been something this organization has done and I'm happy to be back a part of that."

He joins a predominately veteran cast in addition to a few young players who he can bestow his wisdom upon.

The best thing he said about having a high collection of vets is that "everyone's able to hold each other accountable, everybody understands what the goal is and in order to do something that's hard, sometimes you've gotta' have hard conversations and say hard things."

Trevor's always been highly adaptable. He's always had the ability to join any team and make it work. "Regardless of whatever the role is, I know I'm ready for it. I'm a plug-and-play type player," he announced during his press conference at Media Day.

"I've been around a lot; I've been a bunch of different places so I've always found a way to contribute to teams," he affirmed.

Because the thing about Trevor Ariza, is from his early days as a California State Champion, to the first leg of his professional career as an NBA Champion, to now, is that Trevor Ariza has always had the innate ability to be a team player. He's been equipped with the qualities since the beginning.

Now, the term "team player" carries many connotations but in its essence, the title denotes a few undeniable attributes including depth, malleability, and magnetism. That's Trevor. And that's what he can bring (in addition to his length) to this 2021-22 Lakers team.

At the conclusion of his 18th Media Day, Trevor listed off some of his all-time favorite players from LA. Baron Davis, Evan Burns, Brandon Heath, and his fellow teammate Russell Westbrook were names mentioned among others on the list.

Fitting that he chose the last part of his Media Day, before he enters into his 18th season, to recognize the LA basketball players that have inspired him throughout his career — a true class act, a real one.

Hoopin' & Scoopin'

I grew up with my dad taking me to all types of Los Angeles sports games. Football, baseball and my fave... basketball 🏀. We'd sit in those heavenly high seats, but cheered like we were courtside.

Yeah, I was excited to see very "worthy" cross overs, balls stolen as the "norm", and "magic" slam dunks that almost shattered the glass. But what excited me more than anything was the food vendors. "Hot dogs!" "Popcorn!" "Ice cream!!!"

Oh...the ice cream.

I can't believe that years later, I have launched, SMiZE Cream, my very own ice cream company. And it's not just the most amazing creamy, dreamy ice cream - there's a Yummy Chunkalicious surprise inside of every cup, a SMiZE SURPRiZE.

Like ballers dig deep on defense, you get to DIG, BABY, DIG for that yummy SURPRiZE.

My dream is that one day, SMiZE Cream will be enjoyed in sports arenas worldwide. Until that dream comes true, put your ⬅ camera on that QR code to see how to GET YOU SOME SMiZE Cream!

With so much love,

LAKERS IN PHOTOS:
LAKERS DAY AT THE DODGERS

In honor of Lakers Day on August 22, newly acquired point guard Russell Westbrook threw out the ceremonial first pitch before the Dodgers matched up against the New York Mets. Westbrook was one of a handful of Laker players to have the pregame honor, the most recent being Anthony Davis in 2019. Donning a backwards cap and No. 0 Dodgers jersey, Westbrook chatted with fans, friends and players during his visit before the teams took the field. The Laker Girls also made an appearance during the special pregame festivities, taking photos and greeting the Laker and Dodger faithful. Many fans also sported an exclusive Lakers Day t-shirt that displayed the purple and gold and the number 20, which celebrated both the teams' 2020 championships being brought back to Los Angeles.

HelpCureHD aims to help improve the quality of life for those affected by Huntington's Disease by contributing financial, emotional, and mental support while trying to find the cure.

THE PROBLEM

There is no cure for Huntington's Disease. Currently, there is a 50/50 chance a child could inherit the disease if a parent has HD in their family line.

There is a way to stop the gene from being passed on, through in vitro fertilization, or IVF. A procedure that implants embryos that do not have the HD gene can cost upwards of $25,000 - $30,000. This treatment is the only way parents who are at risk can guarantee their biological child will be HD-free.

OUR GOALS

- Provide the finances for families who are at-risk and in financial need and are willing to undergo IVF in order to stop the HD gene from being passed on in their family line.
- Our broader focus is to continue developing partnerships with fertility clinics across the country and raising funds to help cover these costs for many more families.
- HelpCureHD aims to welcome more than 70 HD-free babies through our PGT-IVF grant program in 2021-2022.

HelpCureHD

A+C FOUNDATION

Happy, Healthy and HD-Free!

For countless families, your support has given LIFE a new meaning.

With your help, we will continue our mission to change the world one HD-Free baby at a time.

"When Joe found that our foundation could help families create HD-Free babies and change a family's future, he realized the platform and the financial capabilities he had with baseball. He started to feel a new fulfillment. That made the game worth it again."

- Allie LaForce

The HelpCureHD Foundation was created to help those suffering from this neurological disorder as well as helping aid the journey to finding a cure. HelpCureHD was inspired by Lee Smith, mother to Major League veteran, Joe Smith, who was diagnosed with Huntington's Disease in 2012.

Spectrum Networks operates Spectrum SportsNet, a regional sports network that has an exclusive partnership with the Los Angeles Lakers, LA Galaxy, Los Angeles Sparks and the California Interscholastic Federation (CIF). Through their exclusive partnerships with the Lakers, LA Galaxy, Los Angeles Sparks and the California Interscholastic Federation (CIF), the award-winning 24/7, high-definition networks each deliver more than 180 live events per year, extensive team coverage and unprecedented behind-the-scenes access.

Lakers programming on Spectrum SportsNet includes "Access SportsNet: Lakers," featuring comprehensive pre- and post-game analysis as well as non-game day coverage of the Lakers. "Backstage: Lakers" is the network's signature series that gives fans unparalleled access to the team and chronicles the Lakers season from start to finish. The program provides viewers with an insider's perspective taking fans from the court, to the locker room and on the road with the team. All Lakers games on Spectrum SportsNet are called by veteran Lakers broadcasters Stu Lantz and Bill Macdonald, with Mike Trudell as the sideline reporter. Studio coverage is led by hosts Chris McGee and Allie Clifton. Lakers Hall of Famer James Worthy serves as lead analyst on Lakers game days and is joined throughout the season by analysts Robert Horry and Derek Fisher. Mike Bresnahan is the network's Lakers Insider.

STAPLES CENTER

STAPLES Center has undoubtedly developed an unrivaled reputation for excellence having established itself as the Sports and Entertainment Center of the World. Beginning twenty-two years ago with Bruce Springsteen and the E Street Band's opening night concert on October 17, 1999, more than 76 million guests have come to the AEG-owned and operated STAPLES Center to attend a schedule of prestigious concerts, sporting events, award shows, family shows and other major attractions unmatched by any arena.

As the home of four professional sports franchises, the NBA's Los Angeles Lakers and Los Angeles Clippers, the NHL's Los Angeles Kings, and the WNBA's Los Angeles Sparks, STAPLES Center has proven to be a home court advantage for the local teams with the Lakers capturing six NBA Championships and the Kings winning two Stanley Cup titles since 1999, while the Sparks captured back-to-back WNBA Championships in their first two STAPLES Center campaigns and brought home their third WNBA Championship in 2016.

STAPLES Center continues to distinguish itself as the host of major, high-profile events of national and international distinction including the 2004, 2011 & 2018 NBA All-Star Weekends, the 2002 & 2017 NHL All-Star Games and 2010 NHL Draft, 2002 U.S. Figure Skating Championships, the 2000 Democratic National Convention, 2009 ISU World Figure Skating Championships, 19 of the last 21 GRAMMY Award shows, 11 X Games competitions, four WTA Tour Championships, 12 Pac 12 Men's Basketball Championship tournaments, 2013 & 2018 NCAA Division I Men's Basketball Championship West Regional, the Michael Jackson Public Memorial Service on July 7, 2009, Nipsey Hussle's Celebration of Life on April 11, 2019, Celebration of Life for Kobe and Gianna Bryant on February 24, 2020. Due to COVID-19 restrictions for the first-time event in the arena's 22-year history was able to host an official LA County Vote Center October 24 - November 3, 2020.

STAPLES Center's incredible history has been marked with performances and special events that brought international stature to Los Angeles' sports & entertainment legends including concerts starring Taylor Swift, Adele, Mana, Prince, U2, Garth Brooks, Beyoncé, Usher, Paul McCartney, Don Henley, Bon Jovi, Madonna, Christina Aguilera, Justin Timberlake, Phil Collins, The Rolling Stones, Dave Matthews, Britney Spears, Rod Stewart, Eric Clapton, Janet Jackson, Jay-Z, Simon & Garfunkel, Van Halen, Dixie Chicks, John Mayer, Shania Twain, Peter Gabriel, Ricky Martin, Tina Turner, Kanye West, Luis Miguel, Billy Joel, Lionel Ritchie, Reba McEntire, Crosby, Stills, Nash & Young, Faith Hill & Tim McGraw, Kenny Chesney, Rod Stewart, Tool, Shakira, Depeche Mode, Cher, Bette Midler, Lady Gaga, Keith Urban, Mariah Carey, Eurythmics, Googoosh, The Police, Bob Seger, Lady Antebellum, Katy Perry, Marco Antonio Solis, and a Millennium New Year's Eve spectacular starring the Eagles, Jackson Browne and Linda Ronstadt; world championship boxing including Lennox Lewis vs. Vitali Klitschko for the World Heavyweight Championship and the first-ever Latin Grammy Awards. In addition, the arena has hosted multiple sold-out WWE dates, UFC events, over 25 nights of boxing, Disney on Ice, Walking with Dinosaurs and the Harlem Globetrotters.

STAPLES Center's charitable activities are a part of AEG 1Community and its AEG Community Foundation. AEG 1Community seeks to reach beyond the traditional boundaries of business to support the communities where the organization operates. AEG believes that corporate philanthropy and community engagement play a critical role in helping communities thrive and STAPLES Center strives to be civic leaders by working to improve the economic and social well-being of local communities where the company operates. Over the last 11 years, company-affiliated foundations and programs have contributed over $120 million in direct financial and in-kind support of charitable, community and civic programs that focus on children and youth in the areas of education, the arts and health and wellness. The AEG Community Foundation was established to build on AEG's unwavering commitment to serving children and families through grantmaking. The mission of the Foundation is to support children and families in need through grantmaking in the areas of K-12 education, the arts and health and wellness. We believe that corporate philanthropy and community engagement play a critical role in helping communities thrive.

STAPLES Center and L.A. LIVE serve as the hub for community engagement during the holiday season and support employee volunteerism activities such as a company-wide Day of Service. Through a partnership with City Year, employees volunteer to refurbish local public schools by providing supplies, painting, cleaning and gardening services. During AEG's Season of Giving, held throughout the month of December, the foundation spotlights more than two dozen local charities and community-based organizations and provides non-profits a platform to collect food, hold blood drives, register volunteers, educate the public and sign up mentors.

STAPLES Center has been designed with the fans of Los Angeles in mind. Guests who attend events are treated to the finest entertainment experience imaginable. The arena has free public Wi-Fi, over 840 Toshiba flat panel televisions and (as part of a specially designed $1.5 million facility-wide sound system) and 675 separate speakers outside of the seating area, so fans never miss any of the sights or sounds of a STAPLES Center event. Also featured is a $2 million specialty lighting package and other state-of-the-art amenities. In 2010, STAPLES Center unveiled its new $10 million center-hung video LIVE 4HD Scoreboard specially designed for the arena.

Along STAPLES Center's five concourses are 23 refreshment stands offering a variety of dining choices including the Smokehouse BBQ on City View Terrace, a one-of-a-kind outdoor dining experience with a spectacular view of L.A. LIVE and the downtown Los Angeles skyline. The TEAM LA store located on the main concourse is a retail store featuring official merchandise from the teams and events that call STAPLES Center home with satellite locations throughout the facility and L.A. LIVE. Finally, the arena provides 55 public restrooms including three family restrooms.

Perhaps the greatest emphasis throughout STAPLES Center's development has been the recruitment and training of its guest services and security staff. The STAPLES Center experience is second-to-none from the entertainment environment to the staff's commitment to making every guest's visit a memorable one. Never before has an arena had the amenities, features and commitment to quality service that STAPLES Center offers to the fans and the City of Los Angeles. STAPLES Center continues to set new standards for the arena industry. Located directly across the street from STAPLES Center is L.A. LIVE, a one-of-a-kind sports and entertainment district in downtown Los Angeles. The four million square foot destination features Microsoft Theater, The GRAMMY Museum, Conga Room and The Novo, giving L.A. LIVE 'more music per square foot' than any other location in the world. The district offers a rich mix of local, regional and national restaurants including Yard House, Katsuya, Fleming's Prime Steakhouse & Wine Bar, Rock 'N Fish, Tom's Watch Bar, Smashburger, Patxi's

Pizza, Starbucks, Savoca, BOCA at the Conga Room, WP24 and others. L.A. LIVE also features 100,000 square feet of special event and hospitality space and the famous Lucky Strike Lanes and Lounge. The development also includes a 54-story, 1,001-room convention "headquarters" hotel (combining JW Marriott and The Ritz-Carlton brands and 224 luxury condominiums – The Ritz Carlton Residences at L.A. LIVE.), the 14-screen Regal L.A. LIVE, along with ESPN's West Coast broadcast headquarters. Also home to annual award shows including the American Music Awards, EMMYS, ESPYS and BET Awards, L.A. LIVE is recognized worldwide for offering an incomparable and unforgettable entertainment experience.

In 2020, Ekeler debuted the Austin Ekeler Foundation, which is devoted to creating opportunities for people with limited opportunities to fulfill their passions and lives.

"The goal is to help those that may find themselves in situations similar to mine growing up. I recognize that there are hardworking individuals with natural talents and an undeniable passion to better themselves, but many have limited financial resources, educational opportunities, exposure, or networking capabilities. My mission is to provide opportunities to those in need by bringing reusable resources to communities across the nation that can be utilized by a large number of people for many years to come,"

– Ekeler on why he started his Foundation.

The Foundation's first project is the donation of a brand-new weight room to Santa Barbara High School.

HOW TO SUPPORT:

Donations can be made directly at AustinEkeler.com/Donate

Men's and women's apparel including tees, tanks, and hoodies are also available at Shop.AustinEkeler.com with 100% of the profits going to the Foundation

Based in Northglenn, Colorado, One Offs Plus was an idea born in early 2019 that was brought to life by a father and his sons.

We offer premier custom bottle lamps, where you can design and create your own decor for any occasion, or choose from our pre-designed selections.

We provide hand-made, high-quality products in a wide range of categories, including a Limited Edition Signature lamp from co-founder Austin Ekeler of the Los Angeles Chargers.

Come bring your ideas to light at www.oneoffsplus.com

Missing the interaction with his fans at the beginning of the pandemic, Ekeler launched his Twitch channel in March, turning his lifelong love of video games into a way to connect with fans and build a community. He quickly became one of the most popular athletes on Twitch thanks to the interactivity and community-oriented approach and was a founding partner in the Twitch Sports launch in 2020.

In January 2021, Ekeler officially launched his Gridiron Gaming Group with six NFL and MLB players among the first team members. Through Gridiron Gaming Group, Ekeler helps other pro-athletes set up and run their Twitch streams, while working collaboratively to build streaming infrastructure and creating opportunities for crossover, channel development and brand integration.

On his Twitch streams, Austin frequently engages with his community by running signed memorabilia giveaways, answering chat questions in real time, hosting ab workouts or cooking shows, and playing video games alongside his fans.

ChildFund®

As we social distance, COVID-19 pushes us apart.

As we help children around the world, we pull together.

The pandemic shows how connected we all are, how the quality of life anywhere affects everyone's health and well-being, everywhere.

Children in the world's poorest places face the gravest risks – not just from COVID-19, but also from its ripple effects, especially hunger. Because when parents can't work, children can't eat. We've never seen a crisis like this.

But ChildFund is helping millions of children across Africa, Asia and the Americas stay connected to what they need to grow up healthy, educated and safe. In the biggest emergency response of ChildFund's 80-year history, we and caring people everywhere are pulling together to make sure that children not only survive the pandemic but thrive beyond it.

In Schools and Beyond

This year, there are more students like Alina who need extra support whether they are learning in school or at home. At Communities In Schools, our trained professionals help ensure all kids have the same opportunity to succeed. We go wherever we're needed to connect them with resources like supplies, technology, mentoring and counseling.

LAKERS IN THE COMMUNITY

NBA CARES

NBA Cares is the league's global social responsibility program that builds on the NBA's mission of addressing important social issues. NBA Cares programs and participants have provided more than 5 million hours of hands-on service and created more than 1,300 places where kids and families can live, learn or play in communities around the world. Internationally, NBA Cares has created more than 323 places where kids and families can live, learn or play in 40 countries and territories. NBA Cares works with internationally recognized youth-serving programs that support education, youth and family development, and health-related causes, including: Thurgood Marshall College Fund, Special Olympics, YMCA of the USA, Boys & Girls Clubs of America, UNICEF, the Make-A-Wish Foundation, Share Our Strength and GLSEN.

LAKERS YOUTH FOUNDATION MISSION

The Los Angeles Lakers Youth Foundation is a registered 501(c)3 organization and the official team charity of the Los Angeles Lakers. The Foundation's mission is to help underserved youth develop their potential by providing positive experiences and resources in education, health and wellness, and sports. The Foundation also awards grants to other charities that support youth through direct services and programs in these areas.

BUSS FAMILY AND THE LAKERS

During his lifetime, as a result of his considerable charitable efforts, Dr. Jerry Buss was honored by a wide range of organizations that included City of Hope, NAACP, the B'Nai B'rith, United Negro College Fund, United Indian Development Association, National Organization of Women, Boys and Girls Clubs of America, Muscular Dystrophy Association, the Los Angeles Human Relations Commission, Heart of Los Angeles Youth and Special Olympics of Southern California. Following in their father's footsteps, the Buss family's philanthropic and community support is as diverse as the community in which they live and work.

The Lakers and the Lakers Youth Foundation annually donate hundreds of thousands of dollars, tickets, merchandise, and autographed items to support countless neighborhood schools, charities and youth groups as well as non-profit organizations which attend to the needs of communities in Southern California.

LAKERS LITERACY LEAGUE

The Lakers Literacy League is a free program for teachers intended to foster the joy of literacy in youth grades K-5 through engaging Lakers-themed challenges and creative projects. Activities throughout the program are aimed to help youth find the fun in literacy, ultimately building community in the classroom. Teachers register their classrooms to receive a monthly newsletter with access to three main activities per month. Members of the League are then eligible to win prizes for their entire class.

To learn more or join the Lakers Literacy League, visit www.lakers.com/community/literacy-league.

CHICK HEARN NIGHT

Chick Hearn Night has been celebrated at the Lakers home game closest to Chick's birthday every season since his passing in 2002. On Chick Hearn Night, the annual Chick Hearn Memorial Scholarship is presented to help two aspiring sports journalists pursue their dreams.

Since 2002, the Lakers have created sixteen Lakers Reading Rooms or Lakers Reading and Learning Centers throughout Los Angeles and Hawaii. Each site was remodeled with new carpet, paint, bookshelves, tables, chairs, sofas, children's books, and framed Lakers photos, offering children a safe and fun learning environment dedicated to literacy.

LAKERS "TEAM UP"

The Lakers Team Up program echoes the team's commitment to the community and gives Lakers staff the opportunity to get out of the office and give back to the community in a hands-on way. Once a month, Lakers staff participate in a volunteer event that supports the core pillars of Lakers Community Relations. These events are designed to make a positive impact in the community and encourage LA residents of all ages to volunteer and engage in community service projects.

GRANTING WISHES

In collaboration with wish granting organizations, the Los Angeles Lakers regularly provide game tickets and arrange player meetings for children and adults facing life-threatening medical conditions. Over the past 20 years, the Lakers have granted over 400 special wishes for children and adults from all over the United States, Canada, and as far away as Israel and the Netherlands.

JUNIOR LAKERS

Junior Lakers is the Los Angeles Lakers official youth basketball initiative. With Junior Lakers, the Lakers and the Lakers Youth Foundation work with Los Angeles youth to develop fundamental basketball skills, teamwork, sportsmanship and community involvement, with positive adult supervision. The Lakers impact over 130,000 Los Angeles youth basketball players across multiple Junior Lakers Leagues with after-school programs including the Boys & Girls Club and LA's Best, presented by UCLA Health, as well as Playworks and After-School All Stars.

CAMP LAKERS

Camp Lakers, presented by UCLA Health, is committed to providing young players with the ultimate Lakers experience. For the last 20 summers, campers have learned the Laker way at Camp Lakers, honing their basketball skills and discovering the importance of hard work, teamwork, dedication, and sportsmanship, on and off the court.

Each day special Lakers guests and staff visit Camp to meet and speak with the campers. On the last day of the week, the campers take a field trip to the Lakers facility to meet Lakers and see where the Lakers work on their basketball skills. There they have the once-and-a-lifetime opportunity to play where the Lakers play, meet Lakers players and Laker Girls and see the championship trophies.

LAKERS CELEBRITY GOLF INVITATIONAL

Each season, the Lakers organization and some of their biggest supporters gather to raise money for the Lakers Youth Foundation at the Lakers Celebrity Golf Invitational. The annual tournament allows golfers the opportunity to play alongside Lakers Legends and sports and entertainment celebrities for a day of fun and excitement. After the golf day guests have the opportunity to meet current Lakers players and coaching staff at an afternoon reception, charity silent & live auction and gala dinner. The money raised at the Lakers Celebrity Golf Invitational benefits the Lakers Youth Foundation and enables the foundation to provide educational, athletic and recreational opportunities to Los Angeles youth.

COMPLIMENTARY GROUP TICKETS

Each year, the Lakers and the Lakers Youth Foundation donate several thousand tickets to Southern California non-profit organizations so that their members may enjoy a game together. Often, the complimentary group ticket is the non-profit member's first opportunity to see a Lakers game. Ticket requests can be made online at www.lakers.com/community.

STUDENT & EDUCATOR OF THE MONTH PROGRAM

Once a month during the NBA regular season, the Los Angeles Lakers honor three local students and three local educators for their outstanding academic and extracurricular achievements. All educator nominations are submitted to the Lakers online at www.lakers.com/community/student-and-educator-of-the-month by local school personnel or parents, and all student nominations are submitted by principals or teachers. Each honoree receives tickets to a Lakers game, a t-shirt, and special recognition plaque.

A HIDDEN GEM AMONG LAS VEGAS HOTELS

Experience style, sophistication, comfort and convenience at Platinum Hotel, a chosen destination only 1.5 blocks away from the central Strip. With an enviable location near some of the most sought-after attractions and things to do in Las Vegas, our non-smoking, non-gaming property is regarded as a can't-miss place to stay among Las Vegas hotels. Distinguished by a unique configuration of suites ranging from 910 to 2,100 square feet, our smallest suite is three times larger than the typical Las Vegas hotel room. In addition, we are one of the only hotels in Vegas with walk-out balconies for every room.

A SEASON OF GIVING

The annual Lakers "Season of Giving," presented by East West Bank, consists of several events centered around the holidays intended to bring joy and cheer to local underserved communities. The 2021 "Season of Giving" kicks off with a Thanksgiving Feast Movie Night, then a Turkey Giveaway at the Salvation Army LA Red Shield Youth & Community Center where over 300 Thanksgiving meal necessities were passed out to families in need. The "Season" rounds out with a Holiday Party for Kids in December. Current and former Lakers players join the events to interact with the community and provide a memorable holiday experience for all.

HEALTH AND FITNESS INITIATIVES

The Lakers are dedicated to helping their fans live a healthy lifestyle. To emphasize the importance of health and fitness, the Lakers sponsor programs that reward local students for being active about their health. Field Day with the Los Angeles Lakers, presented by UCLA Health, aims to educate the community about the importance of physical fitness and having fun.

The Lakers Youth Foundation is proud to offer local organizations the opportunity to host a free basketball clinic and fitness clinics for children in their neighborhood. The clinics are designed to promote youth basketball, be interactive, make physical fitness fun, and teach kids how to stay active and healthy.

MILITARY APPRECIATION

The Lakers and Pechanga Resort Casino created the "Hoops for Troops" program in 2015 to honor those that serve and sacrifice for our country. Hoops for Troops basketball clinics offer the chance for U.S. Armed Forces servicemembers around Southern California to receive tips from Lakers legends on shooting, passing and ball handling skills, as well as some friendly competition.

MENTORSHIP

By the time girls reach 8th grade, they are 50% more likely to drop out of sports than boys, creating barriers that can last a lifetime. Through Game Growers, Nike and the Lakers invite 8th grade girls to form teams and share ideas about keeping girls playing sports. One idea is selected, and those girls travel to Nike Headquarters in Beaverton, Oregon, for Game Growers Training Camp. At camp, the girls work on their idea and present it to Nike and all NBA and WNBA participating teams, before heading back to their community to activate on their game plan.

The Lakers also have mentor programs that pair staff with local high school youth to provide guidance, career advice and inspiration. Lakers staff serve as a positive role model and resource for the students as they navigate and prepare for their next steps.

SOCIAL JUSTICE INITIATIVES

Through a combination of civic engagement, voter education, digital inclusion initiatives, and internal programs, the Lakers are committed to being an anti-racist organization. Building Bridges with Basketball uses the sport to unite members of the LAPD with the surrounding community. The Black Action Network, an employee resource group, works to build inclusiveness and provide cultural opportunities for staff, including monthly Courageous Conversations around social injustices. These programs, among many others, are part of the Lakers' dedication to making profound anti-racist change in the Los Angeles community.
